

Dalla Porta wins at Le Mans and Ramirez keeps the lead

The Italian rider won his duel with Kaito Toba, second, and Stefano Manzi completes the podium of the FIM CEV Repsol Moto3 race that was held today in France.

The Italian rider Lorenzo Dalla Porta achieved the victory of the third race of the year of the FIM CEV Repsol Junior World Championship that took place at the mythical track of Le Mans, together with the MotoGP French GP. The Italian rider was accompanied on the podium by Kaito Toba and Stefano Manzi, with Marcos Ramirez in fourth position, which allows him to keep the lead of the overall standings.

Dalla Porta, who started from the first position of the grid, and Kaito Toba, who started from second, built some advantage over the rest of riders and fought for victory in a beautiful race in which the outcome was not decided until the very last lap. In the end it was the Italian who took the win and jumps to the second position of the Junior World Championship overall standings with 52 points, one more than Japan's Toba (51), which is third. In the lead, with 58 points, is still Marcos Ramirez, who finished fourth today behind Italian Stefano Manzi, with whom he battled for the last step of the podium.

The next round will take place in three weeks, on May 29th at MotorLand Aragón, where there will be again the three categories: Moto3, two Moto2 races and two Superbikes races.

Lorenzo Dalla Porta | Moto3 first race winner

"I did my best race of the year. I'm very happy because I kept the first position in all laps and was finally able to take the win. After the start, I focused on my own pace and I did my best to achieve victory. I hope to be able to do the same in the remaining rounds."
